Ten Stories of Multi-Stakeholder Partnerships

Description / Abstract

The ten stories featured here demonstrate the power of women-led and women-focused multi-stakeholder partnerships (MSPs) for fostering a more inclusive, equal, and water-secure world.

These stories are part of Global Water Partnership (GWP)'s Water ChangeMaker Awards, a global competition which identifies and celebrates the work of groups and organisations that build water and climate resilience.

In this multimedia publication, you will hear from 78 ChangeMaker semifinalists behind the change stories, answering the questions: Why did you decide to get involved with this project, and how do you believe it has impacted gender equality? What were the roles of various stakeholders in this process, and how did you mobilise them? In terms of gender work, what did the inclusion of these stakeholders allow you to achieve which would have been impossible otherwise?
